NEW MEDICINE!
THE GREATEST SUCCESS OF THE AGE!!!
NO MORE COD-LIVER OIL. SYRUP OF IODIZED HORSERADISH of GRIMAULT and Co., Apothecaries and chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris. According to the certificates of the physicians of the Paris Hospitals, detailed in the prospectus, and with the approbation of several Academies, this Syrup is employed with the greatest success in place of Cod-liver Oil, to which it is really superior. It cures diseases of the chest, scrofula, lymphatic disorders, green sickness, muscular atony, and loss of appetite. It regenerates the constitution by purifying the Blood, and is, in a word the most powerful depurative known. It never fatigues the stomach and bowels like the iodide of potassium and the iodide of iron, and is administered with the greatest efficacy to young children subject to humours or obstruction of the glands. Dr. CAZENAVE, of Saint Louis hospital, Paris, recommends it particularly in cutaneous diseases conjointly with the pills which bear his name.
PHOSPHATE of IRON, DE LERAS, apothecary doctor of science, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris.—This new ferruginous medicine contains the elements of the bones and blood, and iron in liquid state. From observations made in the hospitals and detailed in the prospectus, it is superior to ferruginous pills, lactate of iron, iron reduced by hydrogen, pills and syrup of the iodide of iron, and cures rapidly stomach complaints, painful digestion, poverty of the blood, loss of strength and appetite, and the diseases incidental to females. It is the best adjunct to COD LIVER OIL and the best preserver of health in tropical climates.
ELIXIR OF PEPSINE prepared by GRIMAULT & Co., chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris, according to the formula of Dr. CORVISART, knight of the Legion of Honour, Physician to H. M. the Emperor of the French. PEPSINE is pastric juice itself, or rather the digestive principle purified, which digests food in the stomach. When from various causes the supply of the digestive fluid is too small, inevitable consequences are bad digestion, gastritis, gastralgia, inflammation of the mucous coats of the stomach and bowels, heartburn, anæmia, loss of strength, and in females, general derangement. The elixir of Pepsine, which is sanctioned by the approbation of the Paris Academy of Medicine speedily cures all such diseases, & prevents vomiting during pregnancy.
INTERNAL OR LOCAL NEW CURATIVE AGENT

NOTICE TO MERCHANTS AND OTHERS.
THAT Kwong-shang, of Penang: on the 28th last shipped by the Str. Feesiyanee for the undersigned of this Colony 13 baskets of Cargo, on arrival of the steamer which took place on the 14th inst., we were astonished to find that no letter was forwarded to us and on examination we found that it was stolen by some rascals who pretending to be one of our partners, took the Bill of Lading to Messrs. Lindsay & Co., for counter-signature and took delivery of the Goods. We immediately sent some Police on board the said vessel and arrested two rascals who are now being examined by the Magistrate.
Fortunately we had another Bill of Lading previously sent by the Mail Steamer Emeu, otherwise the goods must have been in the rascals' possession.
On laying the above matter to the notice of all Foreign Merchants and the Public, we beg to request them in future to take more care as to whether the bearer of a Bill of Lading is really sent from the Consignees of goods shipped by their vessels, by examining the Stamp, which he must bring with him, before they should countersign it.

HONGKONG APRIL 22, 1865.

The performance of the burlesque of Kenilworth at the Theatre Royal on Thursday evening last was a great success—we should say the greatest success ever achieved here. The officers of the Ninth have good reason to plume themselves on the result. Not only was the acting good, the costumes gorgeous and correct, the grouping most effective, and the scenery imposing; but the points of the piece, its jokes, songs, tableaux and situations were so well hit off, that one would have supposed from the delight of the audience, it was the opening night of the season, and not the closing night, of one that has been unusually prolonged. We make no doubt that under effective management Mr. Lewis' Company could have produced no effective a result, but comparing the representations in burlesque of that talented troupe with what took place on Thursday, the Officers of the Ninth carry off the palm boldly. The performances of Lewis' Company were simple rhapsodies in comparison. They lacked all the necessary pomp, pageant, and scenic effect—all the little illusions and etceteras which give the coup de grace to theatrical performances—the pall of pardon may hung over them; a niggard hand griped them heavily; close fistedness and false economy enveloped them.

All but it was too bad! Mr. Lewis had the houses and all the properties for nothing—he had no bond to find; he had all the subscriptions handed over to him—and yet rather than spend two hundred and fifty dollars on scenery, he would throw away all the advantages which his powerful company would have given him.

The officers of the Ninth are of a very different disposition. What Mr. Lewis declined to do for a season, they did for one night. They have indeed proved themselves to be "fellows of infinite jest of most excellent fancy." To illustrate how necessary the superb getting up we have described is to the points of a burlesque—; one scene represented Queen Elizabeth in full bloom on a chair of State with her pages, and her favorites, and her courtiers, guards, heralds and all the pomp and circumstance of royalty. Madame Duret impersonated Queen Bess capitally; she looked every inch the lion hearted Queen. The dress was beautiful; the Queen herself, back and the courtiers, troops &c. stood in the wings. The number of people on the stage was very considerable.

After the tableau had been applauded for its effectiveness, there was a pause—something terribly impressive was clearly brewing; and the house was held in momentary suspense. Suddenly all the courtiers took off their hats and raised them—the band struck up—what would the reader suppose? "For she is a jolly good fellow," which old tavern ditty the courtiers and attendants most vociferously sung.

The effect produced may be more easily imagined than described. The point in burlesque was outrageously absurd, and produced laughter to tears. There were several such points as these, which would all have been lost had parsimonious management ruled the roost.

After the burlesque, Martin Simonsen performed two pieces on the violin, and Madame Fanny, his wife, sang two songs—one of which was encored. The musical entertainment over, the farce of B. B. was rattled through in famous style, "the Chicken" and the "Squire" being capitally done.

And thus ended the most varied and delightful performance we ever witnessed in Hongkong. It seems a pity that a piece like Kinilworth which cost so much pains and money should only be performed once, but there must be an end to all things.

There was a bumper house—every box was full, every seat in the body occupied. Nearly half the audience seemed to be ladies; and making every allowance for the area of crinoline, we fancy we never saw so many ladies gathered together in one place in China on any previous occasion.

Our jottings from Amoy are too amusing to be allowed to lie over any longer, so we proceed with them at once.

And first regarding the posture assumed by the Baron de Moritens. We are under the conviction that however much his services may be needed by the Chinese Military authorities, and however effective they may prove, he is taking a false step in combining military with custom house duties. The French are naturally so zealous and active minded, so fond of fighting and intelligent, that they are apt to put themselves forward and to work themselves up in the employ of Oriental potentates. But the system does not answer. They generally manage to enable the power whose cause they may espouse, to fall into their views and to become excessively pugnacious; in this state of mind Oriental Potentates are very liable to quarrel with the British. The Gallic mercenary always sticks to his colors, but as invariably goes to the wall. He compels John Bull, it is true, to equip a much stronger force than would otherwise have been necessary, but even so, John makes a clean sweep when he is about it.

What Power in India was there, that gallant French adventurers did not assist to repel the British? The native Princes became elated at the result of their Gallic mercenaries' handiwork, and relying on their powers of resistance, gave the British just cause of offence and became involved in war which necessarily ended in their downfall. But for the intervention of these French adventurers, India would not now have been British. Some of the Chiefs whose territories we have annexed would have been tributary, some would have been subsidised, and some would have been independent. The British would never have dreamed of conquering India but for the resistance which the Native princes were enabled to make, through the knowledge and instruction which they derived from the French. John Bull was like a horse—he did not know his own strength until he was forced to learn it, and then being taught the lesson, he took full advantage of it and never forgot it.

We do not seek to enlarge upon this topic. What we desire to lay down is, that the enterprise and the pugnacity of the French render them a dangerous race in the East where British interests do the most predominate. Monsieur Giquel for instance at Ningpo was a very estimable man and a very gallant fellow. We think we are correct in stating that he held a civil appointment in the French service at Ningpo. He became excited by war's alarms—he grew exasperated at the apathy of the Mandarins—he felt like a war horse in the stable, and taking the field he rendered the Mandarins vast service.

Baron de Meritens is a man of more calibre than Monsieur Giquel, but his impulses are identical. He receives the pay of the Imperial Government in one capacity and his feelings revolt at seeing the interests of his employers sacrificed in another capacity. He deplores the apathy and the impracticability of the Mandarins—he sees the Mede at the gate, and his zeal overrides his discretion. He turns Customs cruizers into vessels of war, and he illegally confiscates a foreign steamer that he may avail of her gratuitous services as a gunboat.

We do not call the Baron's motives into question. They do him infinite honor inasmuch as they indicate noble impulses and honest aspirations; but we more than doubt their policy, and we strongly disapprove of the course the Baron has been impelled to adopt.

In the first place if Frenchmen in the employ of the Chinese Maritime Customs are available to perform the great services towards the Mandarins which Monsieur Giquel and the Baron de Meritens have performed, most undoubtedly the Customs service will be open only to Frenchmen; or at all events they will have a great advantage as applicants over the English, because the latter are distinctly prohibited under the foreign enlistment act, from rendering military service to the Mandarins.

We would ask the Baron, or any other enlightened Frenchman, what such a movement as we have indicated must inevitably lead to? To the ejectment of the British from the Custom House appointments, and to the preference of the French. Then to a palpable disability of British subjects to perform the discursive duties of a Customs officer—then to the ousting of the British Customs Service and to the exclusive nomination of the French.

What next? To a military career; to misunderstandings with the British, and to the game of India played over again. There is no controverting the fact. John Bull in the East is a most testy fellow—he has enormous interests in that quarter—and he will never submit to dictation from the French, who really have next to no real interests at all with China. True they buy a little Silk, but they do the business with British capital through British houses.

Besides, we submit that nothing can save the Mandarins from destruction except a reliance on their own resources for salvation. So long as they think the un-Kwai will step in and save them from utter destruction, so long will they continue apathetic fatalists. But let them once know that they have to work their own salvation or to perish, and we may see an improved state of affairs. That they are deeply inculcated with the idea that foreigners will intercede to save them, we have no doubt whatever; that this idea is greatly detrimental to the interests of the Imperial Government we submit there is no question. Such being admitted, the gallant and devoted services of such spirits as Monsieur Giquel and the Baron de Meritens certainly tend to fortify the detrimental idea on the Mandarin mind, and to encourage that hope which is based on fatalism and which inducing apathy, and nurturing imbecility, points to destruction.

With these remarks we leave our jottings for a future day.

PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.

NOTICE OF REDUCTION OF PASSAGE MONEY.

IN the year 1857 the Directors made a considerable reduction in the Company's rates of Passage Money, which continued in force till 1861.

In that year, owing to the extraordinary rise in the Cost and Freight of Coals, and the enhancement of all descriptions of Naval Stores, the Directors were reluctantly compelled to return to the rates of Passage Money previously in force. They are now happy to state that a decrease in the price of Coal and other expenses of Steam Navigation enables them to reduce the Company's Passage rates to the undernoted scale, which will take effect from and after the 1st June next, viz—

From Hongkong to—
Suez	$480
Malta	510
Marseilles	530
Gibraltar	530
Southampton	550
Reserved Rates for Single Persons.
Suez	$920
Malta	1,020
Marseilles	1,060
Gibraltar	1,060
Southampton	1,100
Reserved Rates for Married Couples.
Suez	$1,160
Malta	1,280
Gibraltar	1,348
Marseilles	1,348
Southampton	1,388

The charges for Children are in proportion to the above.

The above rates are exclusive of the amount payable to the Egyptian Transit Administration for conveyance of Passengers through Egypt, viz:—

For First-class Passengers	$32
Children above three and under ten years, half-fare.
